

Emotions
Kailee D.
Old Donation School, 6

I have the emotion
That is the color of the sea,
The blue
With all the hints of Glittering green.

It strikes me,
Makes my heart sink
Deeper than the Titanic
When it hit that iceberg
And it blocks me from
My happiness inside,
I go to sleep feeling emptier
Than what I had before

Waking up with my
True emotion,
Yellow and pink
With flying colors in the air
I am like jet
Fast in the air,
Soaring higher than before

My flying makes me happy
With colors and cloud

To support my legs as
They dangle from the sky

I feel my heart
Redder than ever before,
It makes me hurt
Looking at the damage I did,
I did more damage than
A bull fight something red

Someone made me angry
Someone made me tip
Someone needs to get payback
For what they did
I felt myself change course to
A different city,
Revenge

Revenge was a
Horrible experience
I got to set up
Pranks and spell,
Hexes and traps
Revenge took me down
The wrong path

Guilt filled me up
With one nasty green feeling
One that makes
Say that I am sorry

Guilt has me feel
for the things I did
Wrong
And makes me see the Horrible things I committed,
All the crimes I committed
And Jewels I stole,
Even the heart I took Long,
Long
Ago

Emotions help me feel
All the different feelings
Through my head
And to my stinky little feet
I had to face my head up
To the person who controlled my emotions

I had to Look down to me.
